Kevin Kommer – Employee Spotlight – February 2020

Kevin Kommer is just starting his second month at Rochester Hearing and Speech Center as our new Controller. The Controller is responsible for all financial management and reporting functions, including developing and monitoring the agency budget, ensuring adequate cash flow, and working with the Board of Directors Finance Committee and with external auditors.

“Everyone I’ve met has been very welcoming and friendly. It was obvious right from my first day that there are really good and dedicated employees here, and a good team approach.”

A Rochester-area native, Kevin holds a B.S. degree in accounting from St. John Fisher College and has many years of not-for-profit and healthcare financial management experience. He was most recently the CFO at the Family Service Communities of Rochester which provided residential assisted living and enriched housing services, and also previously worked at skilled nursing facilities and home health care agencies.

“I enjoyed regularly seeing the people my former employers served and thought that would change at RHSC. However, it’s been great to often see children coming through the hallways under supervision of the amazing caring staff here.”

Kevin knows not-for-profit agencies face many financial challenges, which include dependence on the support of generous donors for long-term success. He will ensure timely financial reporting back to funders and other stakeholders.

“RHSC offers needed programs and services, and does them well. Donations to our agency will help ensure we can continue to provide these services, while also being able to look ahead and remain on the leading edge of the ever-changing healthcare world.”

When not at work, Kevin enjoys reading, traveling, golfing during the summer, and following the Buffalo Bills and Baltimore Orioles. He also likes to help his wife grow her vegan and other specialty catering business.
